

AT&T U-verseTV[®]
+ Internet + Wireless
get all 3 for our lowest price yet!

only $89/mo
for 12 months with 1-yr term

Get Started >

THIS WEEKEND | April 29, 2012 | ADD A COMMENT

Detroit Symphony pays tribute to Elvis

Anton Anderssen

Detroit Symphony Orchestra
Examiner

+ Subscribe

86 1 1 0 0

Like Tweet +1 11 Pin it email

Detroit Symphony pays tribute to Elvis
Photo credit: Kraig Parker

Video: Detroit Symphony pays tribute to Elvis

By Dr. Anton Anderssen

On Saturday night, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra pops paid a tribute to "The King of Rock and Roll." The sensational concert was ultra-energetic, tastefully staged, and beautifully orchestrated. The talented symphony played sweet music while Kraig Parker, an international Elvis tribute artist took front stage with two soulfully rich backup singers and an entourage of his own musicians.

Peg Dunlop, a huge Elvis fan who also shares his birthday, attended this concert twice. At the first show on Thursday, she received a coveted red silk sash which she proudly wore to Saturday night's concert. There was a fearsome competition among fans to receive the prized haberdashery wares. Dunlop remarked, "I really like this guy. I have seen a lot of Elvis entertainers. He has a good voice, and especially on songs with lower notes like In the Ghetto, and How Great Thou Art. He does sound a lot like Elvis. He sure could hold a note at the end of a song!"

NEXT ARTICLE »
Sand sculptors head to Hampton Beach for 2012 competition

Advertisement

AdChoices

25% OFF images

time to switch.
BIGSTOCK switch now >

Behind 'Brave'
See the behind-the-scenes magic that made us cheer
How's it done?

Off the wagon
Charlie Sheen said in a new interview he pledges to quit 'quitting'